Definitions "Adopted materials" Adopted materials refers to materials approved by the State Textbook Committee and purchased with state funds. "Ancillary material" Ancillary items considered for adoption shall be compatible with the textbook bid. This term refers to materials intended and designed to be used with a comprehensive program submitted by the same publisher. Examples of this type of material may include but are not limited to workbooks, quizzes, puzzles, test banks, transparencies, black line masters, etc. "Comprehensive material or comprehensive program" This term refers to teacher instructional material not intended to be used by students and shall include Priority Academic Student Skills (PASS) correlations. Additionally, this also includes one edition of the initial student instructional material such as a student text (electronic or print). "Core subject cycle" This term refers to the period of time for which contracts are entered into for subjects identified by the State Textbook Committee. The cycle begins when contracts go into effect for the items bid in a subject area, and the cycle ends when the contracts expire and new contracts are established for materials in the same subject area. The State Textbook Committee operates under a six-year adoption cycle for all subjects except Instructional Technology, which operates under a three-year adoption cycle. "Free materials" Materials in any medium which a publisher intends to make available without cost upon the purchase of textbooks bid and adopted. "Supplementary item or supplementary material" These terms refer to items intended and designated to guide the instruction of one or a few of the curriculum standards for the subject area for which the item has been submitted. Supplementary materials are designed to be used independently or cooperatively with bid items submitted in the same subject area by the same or different publisher. Examples of supplementary items may include but are not limited to maps, atlases, flash cards, classroom libraries, stories about significant people in the subject area, selected readings, literature guides, or small books teaching about one component of a subject area. [Source: Added at 12 Ok Reg 3301, eff 6-27-95; Amended at 21 Ok Reg 1834, eff 6-11-04] 720:10-5-1. Advisors (a) Each textbook committee member shall select a maximum of five (5) advisors for each subject in which textbooks have been called for adoption to assist in the textbook review process. One (1) of the advisors may be a lay member who has a child in public school in this state and who does not have a teaching certificate. All remaining advisors will be certified educators with experience in the adoption area. (b) Official advisors must abide by all laws and rules and regulations of the State Textbook Committee and the state. (c) Nothing in this section is intended to limit the right of textbook committee members to seek advice from as many sources as they wish; however, textbook samples may be provided only to official advisors.

720:10-5-2. Voting Procedure for adoption selection All votes for adoption and substitution shall be by verbal roll call. [Source: Added at 11 Ok Reg 707, eff 11-22-93 (emergency); Added at 11 Ok Reg 3553, eff 6-27-94] 720:10-5-3. Criteria for State Textbook Committee selections The State Textbook Committee shall consider the following when adopting materials. (1) Align with recognized curriculum standards for the subject area the materials have been submitted for adoption. (2) Are objective in content and impartial in interpretations, and which do not encourage or condone civil disorder, social strife or disregard for the law; (3) Do not degrade, and where appropriate, teach high moral standards including: (A) honesty (B) respect for parents, teachers, and those properly in authority; (C) the importance of the work ethic in achieving personal goals; (D) the existence of absolute values of right and wrong. (4) Emphasize the importance of the family as the core of American society and do not degrade traditional roles of men and women, boys and girls; (5) Include the principles of the free enterprise system and the effectiveness of the system; (6) Are designed to foster the intellectual development of the child by providing instruction in reading, writing and arithmetic, through centuries of academic endeavor, including an awareness of the religious and classical culture of the western world and its significance to the preservation of the liberties of the American people; (7) Present balanced and factual treatments to controversial, political and social movements without biased editorial judgments; (8) Do not promote illegal lifestyles or sexual behavior, sadistic or degrading behavior; (9) Do not include blatantly offensive language or illustrations; (10) Do not include violence for reasons of excitement, sensationalism or as an excuse for relevance. Violence, if it appears in textbook content, shall be treated in context of cause and consequence; (11) Treat the subject of historical origins of humankind in an objective and unbiased manner; and (12) Do not invade the privacy of the pupils or pupils' parents. Consideration of new materials due to unusual or extraordinary circumstances (a) Under the provisions of Title 70, Article XVI, Section 16-102, any resident of the State of Oklahoma, or publisher of textbooks, who feels that unusual or extraordinary circumstances exist in a particular subject area during the period of adoption may, by written request to the State Textbook Committee, present evidence that significant new techniques of teaching, significant new findings or discoveries, or other new information or knowledge exists in a particular subject area that would warrant consideration by the State Textbook Committee of new materials in that particular subject area. (b) Written requests will be addressed to the Secretary of the State Textbook Committee. The written request will include the name, address, and phone number of the person making the request. Also to be included are the subject area name and grade classification. The person making the request will then describe in detail any new technique, procedure, finding, discovery, and any other information that will aid the Committee in making a decision. Furthermore, the person making the request will address the impact the technique, procedure, finding or discovery will have on students or education and the impact the absence of this information will have upon students or education until the next adoption period. (c) Upon determination by three-fourths (3/4) of the members of the State Textbook Committee that unusual or extraordinary circumstances exist in a particular subject area, the Committee may select one or more textbooks in that subject area for the remainder of the adoption period. (1) The chairperson of the Committee will direct the Secretary of the Committee to issue a Call for Bids in the subject area indicated. Said
Call for Bids will include: (A) subject area; (B) grade; (C) description of new technique, finding, discovery or procedures that must be included in any item bid; (D) deadline date for letters of intent; (E) deadline dates for receipt of bids and books; (F) public hearing dates; and (G) date of the adoption meeting. (2) All normal adoption procedures will be followed to include sampling of Committee, State Department of Education, Congressional District Review Centers and any advisors that the committee members may identify. Adoption will be by a majority vote. [Source: Added at 11 Ok Reg 707, eff 11-22-93 (emergency); Added at 11 Ok Reg 3553, eff 6-27-94] 720:10-5-6. Substitution (a) Letters of intent to substitute from publishers must state the book or series of books the publishing company intends to substitute, the book or series of books the substitution will replace, and the number of the State contract the substitution will modify. Additions to the letter of intent will be accepted only until the deadline for receipt of letters of intent and only if submitted in writing. (b) Substitution of textbooks and ancillary materials shall be allowed if the quality of the book is equal to or better than the book on the list. The substitution of textbooks will be allowed if the new edition is not so drastically changed as to make it difficult to use the new edition simultaneously with the old edition already in use in the classroom. Also, substitution of textbooks will be allowed if the old edition has not been sold in classroom quantities in the state. (c) Substitution(s) or adoptions out of cycle will not be accepted for bid the last year of the contract period. Bond Each successful bidder shall be required to post a bond of $2,000.00 for each series with a maximum of $5,000.00 by any one company. [Source: Added at 11 Ok Reg 707, eff 11-22-93 (emergency); Added at 11 Ok Reg 3553, eff 6-27-94] 720:10-7-2. Contract (a) The execution date of the contracts shall be December 31 of each year. (b) Assumption, acquisition, assignment or transfer of contracts currently in effect between the State Textbook Committee and persons, firms or corporations will be allowed during the period of the contract upon receipt by the Secretary of the State Textbook Committee of a replacement bond provided by the receiving company. (c) It is required that a publisher notify the office of the Secretary of the State Textbook Committee of any and all price reductions, either temporary or permanent, of materials under contract with this state. Those price reductions then become permanent and replace the existing costs on the approved contracts. All price reductions are permanent until the contract expires or a substitution with a price increase is approved by the State Textbook Committee. Temporary sale prices are not permitted.
